

Claims

Claim 1: Cancelled

New Claim 2:

A Page-Keeper for encircling a book to hold a place within the book.

Consisting of an elastic band where decorative beads are secured on the elastic band, such that when the Page-Keeper is placed on the book to hold the place, all the beads are on the outside along the binding of the book and the plain elastic is inside holding the place within the book.

New Claim 3:

The Page-Keeper of claim 2, the beads are strung and centered on the elastic band. Elastic band is knotted on either side of the beads to limit the movement of the beads, keeping them somewhat centered. Open ends of elastic are then knotted together, to close.

New Claim 4:

The Page-Keeper of claim 2, beads are decorative and colorful and makes your book stand out while keeping your place.

New Claim 5:

The Page-Keeper of claim 2, will remain in place until you move the elastic in between any other two pages.
